Prolog: Eternal Snow

I fell in love with you...
Just how long has it been since then?
My feelings have only been getting stronger
I wonder... have you realized how I feel?
Even though I've never said a word

It's like snowflakes drifting ... gently
Continuing to pile higher and higher

Hold me tight ...
If this is how it feels

The feeling of falling in love with someone
I never wanted to know that feeling
I love you... I can't stop my tears from falling...
In that once, that you
Should never have come into my life

I wonder,
How long will I keep thinking about you?
My breath is fogging up the window glass
My trembling heart is... next to the lit candle
..And melting now
I wonder, will it survive?

Hold me tight ...
So tight that I might break

So that when we meet in the frigid gate of a blizzard
I want to be cold anymore

I miss you ... I think of you ... so far away
With this hand-knit muffler

I am here alone,
Holding myself again tonight.
If the new keeps on falling forever
Will it cover up my feelings for you?

Hold me tight ...
If this how it feels
The feeling of falling in love with someone
I never wanted to know this feeling

I love you ... it feeling up my heart
I want to shout to the winter sky...
I want to meet you right now

Hold me tight
I love you
